

Is this email not displaying correctly? View it in your browser.

ILLINOIS URBAN WOOD

FEB 2020 / No. 56

Grinnell College's Felled Walnut Trees Graduate into Benches

The owner of Field Joinery & Design Studio of Westmont, IL, shares his delight of making benches for his alma mater. One tree had a trio of bullets embedded in its trunk. The custom woodworker can only wonder who took the pot shots on his beloved campus.

Read more

Urban Wood Network Slates 'Future Visioning' Webinar Series

The Urban Wood Network (UWN) kicks off its 2020 webinar series on March 11 with "The Urban Wood Network: Future Visioning." UWN invites municipalities, arborists, sawyers, woodworkers, advocates and all others interested in advancing the urban wood movement to participate in one or all of these 75-minute webinars.

Read more

Study Compares EAB Impact: Vienna vs. Minneapolis

In a modern-day urban forestry tale of two cities, researchers query: "Do differences in visual landscape preferences for emerald ash borer-impacted forest scenarios exist between forest visitors asked in EAB-impact and EAB non-impacted cities?"

Read more

Emerald Ash Borer in North Carolina

Read more

<https://illinoisurbanwood.org/...NC>
Program Protects Most-Valued Ash
Trees from EAB

The North Carolina Forest Service said its Ask Protection Program funded or partially funded the protection of more than 620 of the state's most cherished ash trees in 15 communities and parks in 2018 and 2019.

More Urban Wood News & Info

Sculptor Adds Urban Wood to Her Palette

New Sculptures Breathe Fresh Life into Dying Trees

Urban Wood Use Guide Is Chock-Full of Resources

Alabama Sawyer Fills Big Order for Gulf State Park Eatery

How to Get Your Urban Wood Business Featured

Rich Christianson, Editor & Publisher
IllinoisUrbanWood.org

If you want to unsubscribe, click here.